EFCE Excellence Award in Fluid Separations 2010

The European Federation of Chemical Engineering (EFCE) is pleased to present the call for nominations for the first Excellence Award in Fluid Separations. This new quadrennial award has been instituted to recognise a PhD thesis of a young researcher or engineer which demonstrates an outstanding contribution to research and/or practice in fluid separations.

The award comprises a certificate, the sum of 1500 Euros, a travel grant of up to 500 Euros, and a fee waiver to attend the Distillation & Absorption 2010 Symposium to be held in Eindhoven, The Netherlands, on 12 to 15 September 2010, where the award will be presented. The winner will be invited to give a presentation at DA2010 which may be published in the symposium proceedings time permitting.

Nominations may be submitted by any PhD supervisor at a PhD-awarding institution in an EFCE member country or by a member of an EFCE member society. The PhD thesis nominated must address a topic relevant to the field of Fluid Separations. Only PhD theses or papers published between 1 January 2006 and 31 December 2009 are eligible for nomination.

Closing date for nominations: 31 March 2010

Further information about the nomination procedure, eligibility, supporting documentation, etc. can be obtained from the EFCE website at <http://www.efce.info/ExcellenceAwardFluidSeparations.html>.
